February 20, 1881. iseippl and Alabama, the latest of the of franchised States, are to-day quiet and peaceful under Democratic rule, whereas South Carolina and Louisiana, under Radical rule, the first especially, are in anarchy, torn by internal feuds, their industries jcopardized and their populations enlisted in riot and bloodshed. In Tennesse there is peace, and in Arkansas, which while under Radical control was perhaps more violently a prey to Redical thieves and murderers han any other. In that State the Jack M'Clures and Claytons have ceased to vex the public mind as rulers, and the result is just what it will be in South Carolina and Louisiana when the posple of those States set the Kelloggs and hamberlains aside. In all the southern States governed by Democratic governes and legislators the negro works willingly and well, and is rewarded for his industry remuneratively. In South Carolina and Louisiana, still under Radical rule, they are robbed by the remorseless tax-gatherer, and kept in a

The only bond that unites the Radi-

Bond will be a 'ower of strength in the the last legislature, an honor to Haywood county. See to it, Democrats, that he be elected. We cannot believe the Democracy of West Tennessee in this great struggle will fail to support a single nominee. Shelby county, it is hoped, will be equal to her opportunities. If the Democracy of this county would retain their influence in the party councils of the State, they must stand by the cominees. In sending delegates to the State convention held in Nashville last August, we made a solemn covenant by indorsing the nomination to stand by the nominee. This pledge should be mulating a fund for which no legal use faithfully observed. In our party conventions, when Shelby casts her sixty votes on any question it is potential in the party councils. But if in this election we betray our party and become renegades and bolters, Shelby will lose all influence in directing public opinion and her name will be received in future conventious with hissing and derision. Let us be trueto our party by being true to our pledges. R flection will teach every Democrat that the place of safety and success in this great contest is in supporting our nominees for President, for governor, for congress and for the State legislature. This is no time for factious divisions on a mere question of policy. In every State in this broad Union the Democratic hosts are united and msrching to victory in a solid and unbroken column. After the battle has been fought and won, shall it be said that Shelby county alone has faltered? For twenty years we have labored with the Democracy of this county. In every great contest the party has been true, and we believe it will be equally so in this the most important struggle that ever deserved undivided support. For the first time

The Radicals had more respect for the negroes than the Incendents, as is evidenced by placing the name of Thompson upon the ticket. In fact the Independent bosh iseverywhere treated with that contempt which it has recently received at the bands of the Radicals in this county. It speaking of this class of politicians the Mobile Register says: 'The Independent voter in appearance may seem fair enough, but, unfortunately, he possesses no similarity of forms or harmony of colors. He is a mere heterogeneous compound, a nonentity, a problem without a solution-an enigma without a word. Like Artemus Ward, he does not know what your peculiar opiniors may be, but he heartily indorses them; he has a wink for this side out fries to impress you with the idea that his silence is a tacit indorsement of your views, whatever they may be, and that he will carry them cut regardless of consequences. If this, however, were the only features of that decoy bird, its performances would only be amusing; but, unfortunately, hidden in the bushes where it displays its false colors lies the hunter whose unerring rifle is ready to thunder death at the unsuspecting victim fluttering around the treacherous deception. Independents, in politics, are double dealers; they stand on the vantage ground surveying the field, ready to swoop down on the side where success promises plunder; to John C. Brown. He has burnt his ships behind him, and will be treated hereafter by the Democratic party as a Radical, and with that opposition which treachery always inspires. IT is now evident that Dorsey B. Thomas is running in the interest of the Radical party-of the worst element in that party. The young man Brownlow, who sent that dispatch to Memphis about the strength of Thomas in East Tennessee is not Governor Brownlow's son, but his nephew. He is traveling with the Bloody Shirt Etheridge. This accounts for the dispatch. Governor Brownlow and men of his stamp can never support Dorsey B. Thomas with his repudiation dectrines, though Thomas's object is to aid the Radical party in the election of members of the legislature. He is entitled to less respect than an open Radical. He is a pretended friend, but a real enemy in our camp. His defeat will teach him and all such men as he is a lesson, and that is, never to attempt to betray your own friends. He cares nothing for low taxes, as is shown by the fact that he voted for an eighty-cent tax, and for a resolution to use all the available revenues and resources of the State in paying the debt, which he claims to be just and honest. He would be for either high or low taxes, if he could get office by the one or the other position. Judging from his past course, we have no assurance what would in the future be his position on any question. Neither party can put any confidence in him, and therefore neither can support him. The Republicans may use him during this canvass, but they have no respect for him, and will cast him aside as soon as they have no further use for him.
